THROUGH THE EYES OF CORINTHILA'S PHILATELISTS

The Eye-Catching Nature of Surcharge

These Lagos 1892 1½ d. Red-brown Stationery Cards, which have been surcharged by manuscript red ink to reduce to 1 d. by deleting "HALFPENNY", have always been eye-catching. Postally used examples are found with differing thickness of the pen stroke and there are a handful which have the "HALF" only, of "HALFPENNY", crossed out. The illustrated example, which is one of the latter, comes with an RPSL certificate which indicates the opinion that these were not an official issue. However, in his book, "The Postal Stationery of Nigeria', Peter Hørlyck, who had a large sample of cards used, unused and cancelled to order, states; "Even though a lot of questions about these cards have been raised, it still seems plausible that manuscript surcharges were indeed issued, at least for the single cards." This example was endorsed "Woermann Line" (German steamer) and also "Postlagernd" (to be collected) and was sent to Cameroon. Notwithstanding the varying opinions, they remain eye-catching. Part of 'The Peter Hørlyck Collection of Postal Stationery for Nigeria, Cameroon and Sudan'.

THROUGH THE EYES OF CORINPHILA'S PHILATELISTS

The Rise in Popularity of the "SPECIMEN"

The reference book we always reach for when handling colony Specimen material is; 'Specimen Stamps of the Crown Colonies', which was published by the Royal Philatelic Society London in 1976 (supplement 1984). The author, Marcus Samuel (1904–1997), was an eminent British philatelist, who was recognized as an expert in the specimen and revenue stamps of Britain and the British Commonwealth. Interestingly, Samuel assembled a vast collection of specimen stamps before they were widely collected. Apparently, he began collecting in 1924 when his father acquired a collection which contained a large sample of specimens. His father, not interested in the specimens, asked Samuel to sort the collection and remove all stamps which were not overprinted, allowing him to keep the specimens as a reward for his efforts.

Of course, today specimen stamps are highly collectable and often attract significant bids when rare or unusual examples come to market. The "I R / SPECIMEN" overprint on the featured Niger Coast Protectorate 1895 1 d. vermilion, Postal Stationery Card, was recorded by Samuel in the London Philatelist (Vol. 65 No. 768, pg. 195). He stated it was used on a set of British stamps current around 1891. Samuel suggested it was used by the Inland Revenue for items in their official reference collection and added: "This view is strengthened by the discovery of the same two* overprints on an 1892 British Post Card overprinted for use in the Niger Coast protectorate, because it is known that temporary assistance was, at times, afforded by the Inland Revenue Department to Dependencies aboard, and that British postage stamps and postal stationery were appropriated for that purpose." The attention and detail Samuel brought to the specimen stamps provided context which has been instrumental in making specimen material popular. He also worked with stationery expert Alan Huggins in authoring the go to reference book; 'Specimen Stamps and Stationery of Great Britain, which was published by GB Philatelic Publications Ltd in 1980, and which they both won the Crawford Medal in 1981. "Samuel used the word "two" because he believed the "I R" and "SPECIMEN" were separate overprints. Part of 'The Peter Horlyck Collection of Postal Stationery for Nigeria, Cameroon and Sudan'.

5036	1 d. vermilion, unused, overprinted "I R / SPECIMEN" in black, small corner bend lower left, very fresh and fine. Rare; only known example in private hands. Note: This rare specimen handstamp was recorded by Marcus Samuel in the London Philatelist (Vol. 65 No. 768, pg. 195) used on a set of British stamps current around 1891. Samuel suggested it was used by the Inland Revenue for items in their official reference collection and added: "This view is strengthened by the discovery of the same two overprints* on an 1892 British Post Card overprinted for use in the Niger Coast protectorate, because it is known that temporary assistance was, at times, afforded by the Inland Revenue Department to Dependencies aboard, and that British postage stamps and postal stationery were appropriated for that purpose." The British Postal Museum &amp; Archive has a pair. *The use of the word "two" is because Samuel was of the belief that the "I R" and "SPECIMEN" were separate overprints.	H&G 3 specimen	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	400

The Registered Stationery Envelope, Retailer and Stamp Dealer

This British Protectorate Oil Rivers 1892 registered stationery envelope franked with a 1893 surcharged 1 s. violet handstamp on 2 d. grey-green & carmine sent from Warri, Nigeria to London brings two noteworthy philatelic names from the past together. When it arrives on the auction stage in November this year it will combine the renowned British West Africa collector and author John Sacher and the famous dealer Frank Godden. The envelope comes with the provenance of John Sacher (1940 to 2016), who was a director for the famous British retailer Marks & Spencer, and the great grandson of Michael Marks, one of the founders of the company. Sacher certainly was no ordinary philatelist. He clocked up 50 years of membership, and two of those as the president, of the Royal Philatelic Society London and was a member of the West Africa Study Circle, the Collector's Club New York, the US Philatelic Classics Society, the Postal History Society, the France & Colonies Philatelic Society, and the International Society for Portuguese Philately.

Strand, London. Godden, as well as being well known for producing rather nice leather-bound philatelic albums, was a renowned philatelist and stamp dealer. Christened 'Lewis Sidney Frank Godden' (1877 to 1954) but known as Frank Godden, he set up a philatelic business in The Strand, London in 1912, which his son, who was also called Jack Godden, joined and together they produced the monthly 'Godden's Gazette' from 1933 until the 1970s. Frank Godden Senior was considered to be an expert in writing-up and presenting collections, and was a founder member of the British Philatelic Association (BPA). His organisation skills were also legendary, which he put to good effect in architecting the philatelic section of the British Empire Exhibition in 1924, as well as being a British Commissioner for many international exhibitions. Godden signed the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists in 1946. Part of 'The Peter Hørlyck Collection of Postal Stationery for Nigeria, Cameroon and Sudan' and illustrated on page 420 of 'The Postal Stationery of Nigeria'.

THROUGH THE EYES OF CORINPHILA'S PHILATELISTS

Philatelic Oil Rivers

The Niger Coast which, back in the 1890s, was a British Protectorate known as 'Oil Rivers', is now modern-day Nigeria. The name 'Oil Rivers' came from the trade of palm oil which was transported along the rivers through the areas of Calabar and the Niger Delta. Palm oil was a significant commodity and the British had commercial reasons to have an interest, as well as a post office, in this region during Victorian times. Primarily based in Old Calabar, a consular postal service was arranged from 1891, becoming an authorized post office by 1892. Stamps were issued in the same year utilizing the six Great Britain Jubilee values ½ d. to 1 s. All overprinted 'BRITISH PROTECTORATE OIL RIVERS' in black.

According to records, from almost the first issue of stocks, certain values persistently ran-dry, which conveniently gave rise to what is termed the 'Provisional values' that have the additional surcharge overprinted in a variety of colors. It is thought today the claim that stocks were depleted was in fact an excuse to justify the production of surcharged stamps for collectors of purely philatelic origins. Whether the provisional incarnations were oiling a cog on some philatelic river or not, they are fun, and these adhesives are highly collectable. The featured unused example is SG 41, listed as Niger Coast, Oil Rivers Protectorate, 1893 'Old Calabar' 10 shilling on 5d. dull purple & blue, surcharged Type 12 in vermilion. The catalogue value for an unused example is £6'500 (2024 edition of the SG British Commonwealth catalogue) and fine examples always attract strong interest at auction. Part of 'The Peter Horlyck Collection'.

Longji Emergency Issue

The ironic aspect of the Provisionals from the Longji Emergency issue is they were contrary to a repeated directive not to create provisional stamps.

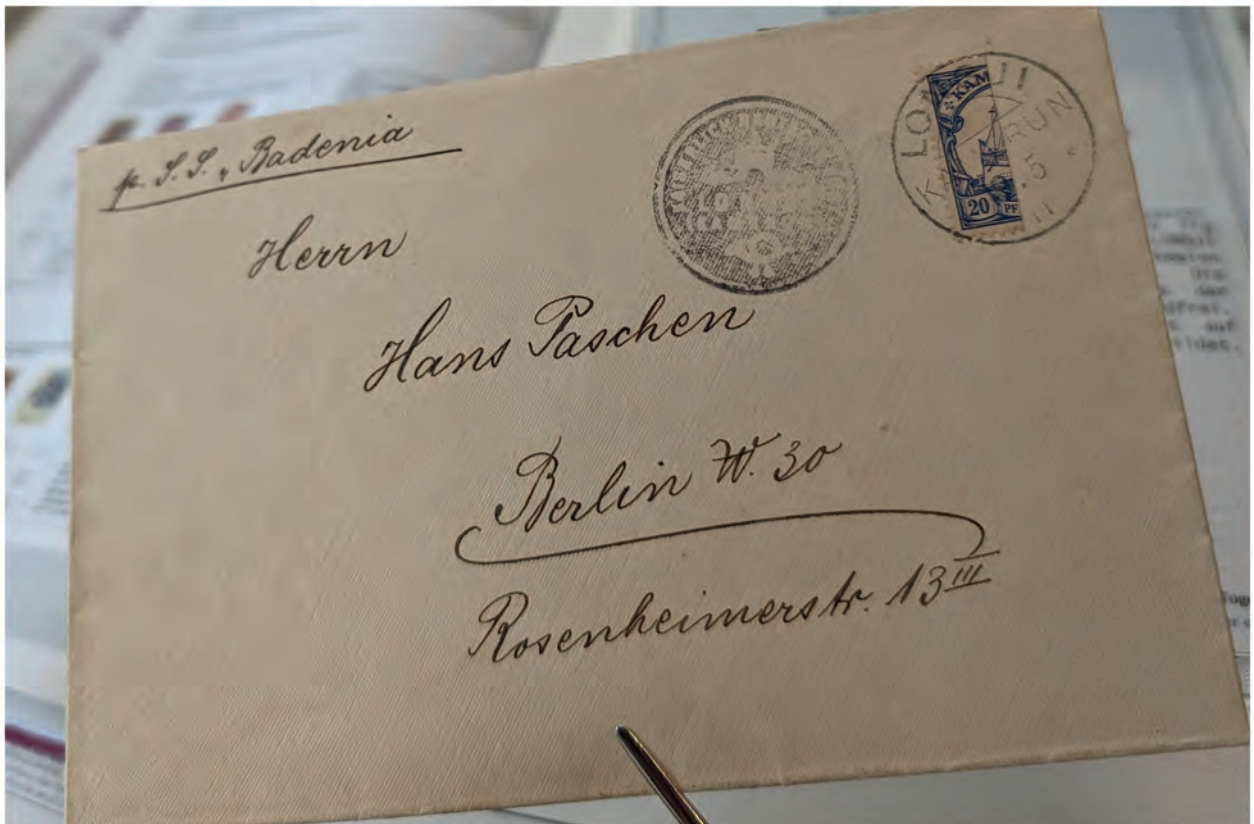

However, the postmaster had limited options when on 19 May 1911, the post office in Longji ran out of 10 Pf. stamps while franking a large quantity of mail which was to be dispatched on the mail steamer Badenia. The solution was to vertically bisect 20 Pf. stamps to enable the mail to be dispatched. As a way of proving these were a genuine official issue, the Longji postal agency's official negative seal was placed alongside the cancel. It is believed that around 100 to 200 were bisected. This example is particularly fine and comes with a Steuer expert certificate. Part of 'The Peter Hørlyck Collection'.

The collection includes the Ahidjo/Foncha surcharge set of three values, represented by a used set and a first day cover. There is also a local commercial letter with the 3d on 20F stamp, noted for its rarity. One page displays four different surcharges as proofs, each in a block of four. Additionally, the collection contains four covers from British Troops in 1961, aimed at stabilizing the region, along with covers from the KG V and KG VI periods that document the British Mandate. It also covers the period of the British Trusteeship in Cameroon, the name change to 'Cameroons under United Kingdom Administration', and the integration of West Cameroon into the independent Republic of Cameroon. The collection further includes examples of the late usage of cancels and the shift from exclusively French-inscribed to bilingual stamps of Cameroon. This assembly provides a comprehensive overview of postal and political history. (Note for accuracy: Several specialized pages of Nigerian stamps have been retained in the same folder). Three covers have been added but not mounted on pages. Two of them contain, among other stamps, an over-complete set of the Ahidjo/Foncha surcharge. The third is a first day cover of the reunification set, unsurcharged in French currency. Additionally, the collection includes a set of documents related to the Southern Cameroons plebiscite, featuring 'Appointment of Counting Agent', 'Appointment of Polling Officer', 'Appointment of Polling Marshal', and 'Appointment of Presiding Officer'. - 5245 1899: Essay for the Large Camel type postal card. This primitive artist's essay in ink, produced on Star and Crescent Moon watermarked paper, is undated, although endorsed "3" and initialled. A stamp box in the height of the Large Camel type stamp has been indicated and the text elements are found on the issued card. The first Large Camel type postal cards were invoiced by De La Rue in 1899, so this drawing would precede that date. Some soiling and pin holes, which do not detract from the charm of the essay. A unique exhibition piece. ✉ 400
- 5246 1908: 4 m. brown, post card, unused. Fresh and clean condition. A very fine example of this allusive card (H&G 13).
Note: Although 51260 postal cards were received from De La Rue in 1899, they were not put on sale. Ten years later there was not a use for them for external mail as the colour of the stamp impression was wrong. Most were returned to De La Rue for being overprinted with the local postcard rate of 2 Milliemes. This meant that only 609 examples remained without the overprint. (Photo = 83) ✉ 150
- 5247 4 m. brown, postal card, used from Khartoum to Milan, Italy, dated 13 October 1908, cancelled by a single circle datestamp in black. To the reverse an extensive message. Some stains, otherwise fine. A rare example; one of four recorded (H&G 13). (Photo = 83) ✉ 400
- 5248 Large Camel Postman 1909: De La Rue Appendix sheet comprising a Proof of the 2 m. green post card, together with two essays of the wrapper bands, made from utilising bands from other values and over painting in Chinese white and then writing in the new values. Some toning, although remains visually impressive. Unique item. Comes with an unused and used example of the issued 2 m. card (H&G 10). (Photo = 85) ✉ 300
- 5249 1909: 2 m surcharge in black on 4 m. brown postal card, used uprated with 1902 2 m. green & brown, sent from Atbara to Paris, France, addressed to 'Theodore Champion', dated 10 February 1910, cancelled by the "ATBARA" circular datestamp, with "PORT SAID" bridge type transit alongside. To the reverse a business message from the 'Sudan Railway' and a received boxed cachet in violet dated 26 February 1910. Soiled in places, overall fine (H&G 9). A scarce example sent to a renowned philatelist.
Note: Théodore Champion (1873 to 1954) was a Swiss born philatelist and stamp dealer, who was added to the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists in 1937. He was also a famous cyclist. Champion was born in Geneva and took French citizenship in 1948 and lived in Paris. (Photo = 85) ✉ 150

5250	1917: 3 m. reddish purple postal card, uprated with 1921 2 m. green & brown and 5 m. scarlet & black (faults), used from Western Darfur to North Wales, England, redirected to Devon, dated 17 October 1921 (location & date on reverse note), cancelled by a retta diamond dumb mark in black, with a "EL FASHER" circular transit mark in black dated 28 October 1921, as well as a "MAERDY" Welsh cds dated 1 December 1921. Creasing in lower portion and a mild bend between the two adhesives, otherwise fine. An uncommon card sent at the 10 m. foreign rate for postcards. Scarce card and rare used. Note: It has been speculated that this card comes from not overprinted remainders of the overprinted 3 m. cards issued in 1907. However, the colour and shade are very different from this issue and from the De La Rue printing records we know that printings of 3 m. cards were invoiced in November 1916, December 1917, November 1918 (2) and finally December 1919, but the colour is not mentioned. It is most likely that this was issued in 1917. (Photo =  85)	19, 23	300
5251	1909: 4 m. carmine postal card, unused bundle of ten within the original wrapper band, priced at 4 pence (P.T. 4). Fresh and clean. Very minor climatic marks on the top and bottom of the band (H&G 11). Comes with a used example of the same card sent internally and cancelled by a "PORT SUDAN" circular (4 Sept. 1911). ### Camel Postman: Envelopes

5252	Large Camel Postman 1902: 5 m. rose, stationery envelope, endorsed "Specimen" diagonally in black ink, from the De La Rue archives. Pinholes top right and paper adhesion to oneside of back from being attached to the record sheet. Minor soiling. Fresh colour and a unique item (H&G B5). (Photo =  85)		150
5253	1912: 2 m. green postal envelope (type 2), unused, with "COLONIAS" handstamp in violet. Fresh colour and apart from some minor edge toning a fine example. The handstamp was applied to stock distributed through the U.P.U. to Portuguese colonies. Scarce. (H&G B8 specimen). Comes mounted on a page with an unused example and two used examples of the same card. A useful selection (4). (Photo =  85)		200
5254	1913: 5 m. deep carmine on blue paper envelope, unused, with additionally applied 1902/21 1 m. brown & carmine and 4 m. vermilion & brown. Slight toning, otherwise fine. A very scarce example. Only 420 were printed. Note: These envelopes derive from a special order for Captain C. H. Stigand and were not generally available. (Photo =  85)	18, 22	250
5255	5 m. deep carmine on blue paper envelope, used from Malakal to Lynton, England, dated 27 May 1918, cancelled by a fine single circle "MALAKAL POST OFFICE" datestamp in black, with triangular "PASSED BY CENSOR SUDAN / 1" in violet alongside. Endorsed "C.H. Stigand, attd. Egyptian Army". Two small opening tears top. A scarce example. Only 420 were printed. Note: These envelopes derive from a special order for Captain C. H. Stigand and were not generally available. (Photo =  87)		300
5256	5 m. deep carmine on blue paper envelope, used with 1902/21 5 m. scarlet & black, sent from Khartoum to Washington, USA, dated 20 May 1916, tied by "KHARTOUM" single circle datestamp in black, with triangular "PASSED BY CENSOR SUDAN / 8" in violet alongside. Endorsed "C.H. Stigand, attd. Egyptian Army". Opening tear top which extends into the stamp impression. A scarce example. Only 420 were printed. Note: These envelopes derive from a special order for Captain C. H. Stigand and were not generally available. (Photo =  85)	23	300
5257	1906: 5 m. carmine Official envelope, overprinted "O.S.G.S" in black (13½ mm. no dot after S), cancelled at Omdurman, dated 19 January 1904, "OMDURMAN" bridge type circular datestamp and with pencil address locally. Has a faint vertical fold to the left well clear the imprint. Scarce. There are no recorded used examples. This being cancelled by favour and the address added later (H&G DB1). Comes with an unused example of the same type and also two unused Official 5 m. envelopes with overprint 17 mm. with stop after 'S', one which has a faint double overprint (H&G DB1/DB1a). Useful group (4). (Photo =  87)		200
