The "Inverted S" variety

The philatelic interest in corner check letters varieties may have begun around 1900 with the detection of the imperf. 1d. red plate 77 with the "B Blank" missing 'A' variety on stamp BA. Collectors trying to find more varieties soon found the inverted Check Letter 'S'. Used stamps were not difficult to find. But unused specimens turned out to be very rare indeed, but the plate could not be identified since photographs of the Imprimatur sheets were not available at the time.

Then a mint lower sheet marginal block of 36, lettered RA-TL with plate number '78' in the sheet margin showing the inverted 'S' variety was found. Charles Nissen illustrated the multiple in THE BRITISH PHILATELIST (1917/18), pages 12/13 and commented "...any of our readers, possessing a penny stamp with 'S' inverted, can tell whether or not it comes from plate 78".

In June 1928 Nissen illustrated the plate 78 block in his magazine again. Another ten years later, in July 1938, Charles Nissen announced the acquisition of the "Baronet's Collection" (Baron Anthony de Worms) in THE BRITISH PHILATELIST illustrating the left hand block lettered RA-TD. It seems Nissen had cut the block of 12 from the original block of 36 and had sold it to Baron de Worms.

The 1d. block RA-TD ended up in the Bostock collection sold by Robson Lowe in 1963.

The remaining block of 24, RE-TL he may have sold to H.C.V. Adams, whose collection was later sold by Robson Lowe in 1956.

The buyer was most likely Reginald. M. Phillips. He shortly afterwards donated his wonderful GB collection to the National Postal Museum. Today the RE-TL block can be seen in the The Postal Museum in vol XIV on page 24.

No other unused blocks from plate 78 showing the 'Inverted S' are recorded today.

The "Archer Roulette"

An article in 'The Times' newspaper on 25 October 1847 headed "Interesting and Useful Improvement in Postage Stamps" described at length „... the inconvenience of imperforate stamps (and) ... a machine ... as to allow the stamps to be instantly detached from the sheet without the operation of cutting“. In response to this, the first experiments in rouletting stamps were carried out by the Irish inventor, Henry Archer, in 1848.

Some years later examples of Rouletted Stamps found their way into stamp collections. In 1892 Mr. Vernon Roberts, President of the Manchester Philatelic Society, presented to the meeting held on 15 January 1892 a specimen of the Archer Roulette which he stated formerly belonged to Sir Rowland Hill. The Earl of Kingston whose collection was sold in 1896 to Stanley Gibbons, owned seven unused Archer Roulettes.

E. D. Bacon mentioned in the June 1924 issue of 'The British Philatelist' that he had identified Archer Roulettes from two different plates: Plate 70 and Plate 71 „... they probably came at some time or other from an Official source.“

Based on information in the Karl Louis Card Index it can be stated that all recorded Archer Roulettes from plate 70 originate from a single 1d. block of 60 lettered PA-PL / TA-TL. All Archer Roulettes known from Plate 71 originate from a single multiple of 28 stamps lettered OF-RL. Stamps originating from the outer horizontal or vertical rows of both two multiples show separation by scissors on one side, whilst all corner specimens show two sides cut by scissors.

The wonderful Archer Roulette mint pair from Plate 70 lettered PI-PJ (lot 3051) shows Archer Roulettes on three sides. The top of the pair is cut by scissors as can be seen on all known letterings from the „P“ row. The „BESANCON“ pair PI-PJ was first recorded in the famous stamp collection of Henry Philip Manus sold in 1932 by Plumridge & Co. Originally attached on the right to the „BESANCON“ pair was an Archer Roulette single lettered PK which rested for years in the Colonel Bates collection sold in 1934. The neighbouring stamps to the „BESANCON“ pair, lettered QI and QJ, are housed in the N.P.M. in London (QI) and until 1951 in the J. B. Seymour collection (QJ).

The „BESANCON“ pair reflects a fascinating chapter of philatelic history: The first stamp separation experiments. E. D. Bacon's assumption about an „Official source“ the Archer Roulettes may have come from, can also be answered: A pair from the same Plate 70 multiple as the „BESANCON“ pair, but from the lower row lettered TH-TI, has a small piece of paper attached with a manuscript comment: „These stamps were given by Mr. Archer to Mr. Rowland Hill who gave them to his son Mr. Pearson Hill, who in his turn gave them to Mr. Hastings Whright from whom I bought them. Wm. Peckitt“. So the TH-TI pair clearly indicates that the Archer Roulettes were originally in the hands of Rowland Hill and later found their way on to the philatelic market via his son Pearson Hill. It seems Pearson Hill found the two Archer Roulette multiples from plate 70 and plate 71 in his father's estate and split them up for friends and collectors. What a perfect philatelic provenance!

The "Cardiff Penny"

The most popular and famous of all imperforate varieties of the 1864, One Penny Red with letters in all four corners is the so called 'Cardiff Penny'. In January 1870 some 1d. reds from plate 116, imperforate in error, were sold at the Post Office in Cardiff. Walter Scott, a youth at the time just starting in business was involved in the 'Find'. Some 56 years later, as a 'senior' stamp collector, he wrote about his initial find in the January 1926 issue of The British Philatelist:

"...at about 6 p.m. on January 18th, 1870, (Walter Scott)... was directing the despatch of office letters; and, finding the supply of stamps had run out, sent the office-boy to the Post Office for a couple of dozen. The boy, not returning as speedily as he should have done (excused the delay explaining) the clerks at the Post Office had to cut all stamps with scissors, instead of tearing them apart in the usual way". Walter Scott "...looked at those the boy had bought, and noticed the perforation was missing....He gave the office-boy a few shillings, and sent him back to the Post Office for a further supply... No other stamps being available, the first lot were cut up and used for the despatch of the letters. The few (.....) remaining were retained by the writer." Walter Scott offered the imperforate 1d. Reds, plate 116, to some of the early stamp dealers, Dr. Viner, Alfred Smith & Co. and Mr. Stanley Gibbons.

Today the Karl Louis Card Index records in unused condition 12 different letterings, all from the upper part of the sheet (AA-AB, AD-AG, AL, BA, BB, BE, DA and EA), nearly all letterings from the 'S' row (SA-SF, SH, SI, SL) and five from the 'T' row (TH-TL). Two used 'Cardiff Pennys' (HC, KD) cancelled with a '162' Cardiff numeral have also been found.

Nine of the recorded unused 'Cardiff Penny' letterings (AA, AB, AD-AG, AL, BE, TA) are also known cut from the imperforate plate 116 Imprimatur sheet. How can these nine letterings of the imperforate 'Cardiff Errors' be distinguished from the Imprimaturs?

First: The Imprimaturs are ungummed whilst the Cardiff imperforate errors were gummed. Second: The Imprimaturs have been cut as singles from the Imprimatur sheet, so all imperforate multiples must originate from the Cardiff Find. Beware of re-gummed Imprimaturs! The two recorded plate 116 imperforate letterings BE are gummed, so one of these must therefore, be a re-gummed Imprimatur.

Corner marginal 'Cardiff Pennys' showing the plate number '116' are recorded in a block of six SA-TC (Royal Collection) and a pair TK-TL (N.P.M.). The single AA in the BESANÇON collection. It has some of the best provenances a stamp can have and a collector may dream of: ex H.C.V. Adams collection (1956), ex Ernest Dale collection (1969) and H.O.Fraser collection (2001). It was always described as having large part original gum. The corner marginal single AA illustrated in the Robson Lowe Encyclopaedia vol. I on page 162 described as 'The Cardiff Error' is in fact from the plate 116 Imprimatur sheet.

3069 1878/79: Plate Proofs for Fugitive Ink Trials conducted on the 1858/79 1 d. red, pl. 191, lettered RC-RD / SC-SD, an unused imperforate block of four printed in rose-red, with large margins all round, superb impressions of rich colour, diagonal crease that does not detract from the wonderful appearance, unused without gum. An exceptional multiple from these Trials, this block adjoining the pair RA-RB which 'Besançon' re-united after more than a century. A spectacular multiple of the greatest rarity. The Karl Louis Card Index only records three singles AD, BD and CD plus the pair RA-RB and this block of four in unused condition. A few more 1 d. from pl. 191, imperf. are recorded bearing trial cancellations or pen strokes. Cert. BPA (1996) Gi DP39 = £ 68'000.

The Dublin Find

A tale of intrigue and secret stamp dealing by the Post Office at the very beginning of the 20th century; and a modern investigation into where the stamps may have ended up.

by DON MADDEN and KARL LOUIS

'I am a great believer in documents contemporary to the events being described . . . This can be clearly seen here in Don Madden's account of the history of the "find" . . . An excellent study based on very extensive research . . . Karl Louis's reconstructions of the material from subsequent sales of broken down sheets is a remarkable achievement'

The remaining large part sheet of 207 stamps (some having been sold by Plumridge & Co. in the interim) was sold to the Earl of Crawford between 1901 and 1906. The Earl's collection was sold, in 1913, to Captain R.B. Sparrow intact. In 1914 the VR block was entrusted to Charles Nissen for resale and he proceeded to cut the multiple up into singles, pairs, strips and blocks of various sizes. A lovely example of this rare stamp

GBPS NEWSLETTER 375 • JANUARY/FEBRUARY 2019

EDITORIAL

There's a question for you at the end of this editorial, but before we get to it, let's spend a little time on the stamps of King George VI. The 2018 SG Concise Catalogue, which is getting less concise each year, has a mere four pages out of 470 for the entire reign, less than 1%, so one might think there's not much to collect (but then King Edward VIII only gets half a page, yet we can fill albums with material).

Of particular interest to me are the wartime years, and the changes involved. The stamps themselves did not see much of a change, other than being printed in pale or light colours. These were introduced in 1941 as a wartime measure.

the ones that tend to oxidise rather unpleasantly. The 5d booklets were next, changing from glazed buff covers to unglazed brown covers in February 1943. A new cover design was introduced in August 1943 with the GPO emblem moved to the top centre. These booklets were no longer numbered as commercial adverts were discontinued and replaced by wartime Post Office notices. From September 1944 all intervals were discontinued. Commercial adverts and interviews would not come back until 1953. Shown here are some of the wartime Post Office notices, the first design is attributed to Oscar Berger (the cartoonist, not the President of Guinness, I know).

collecting them; these are variations in the designs and in the paper. The changes to rolls are more complex, and not as well documented. During the reign, broadly speaking the leader papers went through four styles: pre-war bright colours on white, dull colours on buff, uncoloured buff, and post-war bright colours on white (perforated). What makes this

Chalmers Versus Hill

THE SAGA THAT ROCKED THE VICTORIAN PHILATELIC WORLD

by ANTHONY WICKS MD FRCP with a Foreword by Douglas Muir

Even today, some postal historians and authorities believe that James Chalmers from Dundee was the inventor of the adhesive postage stamp. This misinformed fact was almost entirely due to the industry and fanatical devotion of his son, Patrick Chalmers, in the 1880s. This book relates the extraordinary story of that achievement, in one of the most celebrated philatelic debates ever conducted in the United Kingdom.

Published 2012. Size 170 x 240 mm, hardbound, ix + 156 pp. plus advertisements.

Price £35 plus p&p: UK £4; Europe £8; rest of world £12
